

Dickey's Barbecue Restaurants, Inc.
2009 Food Ingredient Allergens Intolerances Policy

At Dickey's Barbecue Pit Restaurants, the health and safety of our guests are top priority. For those guests who have a concern with food allergens and intolerances, we have compiled product information provided by Dickey's Barbecue Pit Restaurants' approved food manufacturers on the most common allergens: Egg, Fish, Dairy, Peanuts, Shellfish, Soy, Tree Nuts and Wheat/Gluten allergens. We make every effort to keep this information current. However, ingredients on this list may vary due to season, regional suppliers, formula revisions and kitchen preparation techniques and cannot guarantee that the data is completely accurate to the prepared menu items at every Dickey's Barbecue Pit Restaurant location.

Some of our menu items contain distilled vinegar and modified food starch, which due to their origins from grain may contain trace amounts of gluten. Tests cannot immediately identify any gluten, but because of these origins we cannot guarantee that no gluten exists in our food. Please be aware that shared kitchen preparation and cooking areas which includes fryers that the possibility of food items can come in contact with other food products. We are unable to guarantee that any menu item can be completely free of allergens.

Regional menu items, limited time offerings and test products are not listed in this information.
